

WIC Evaluation

Ben and Joe Brew

10/14/2015

Contents

Introduction	2
Purpose of document	2
Notes on data source	2
Participation	3
Breastfeeding	5
Healthy Weight and Obesity	11
Nurtrition education contacts	12

Introduction

Purpose of document

Notes on data source

Participation

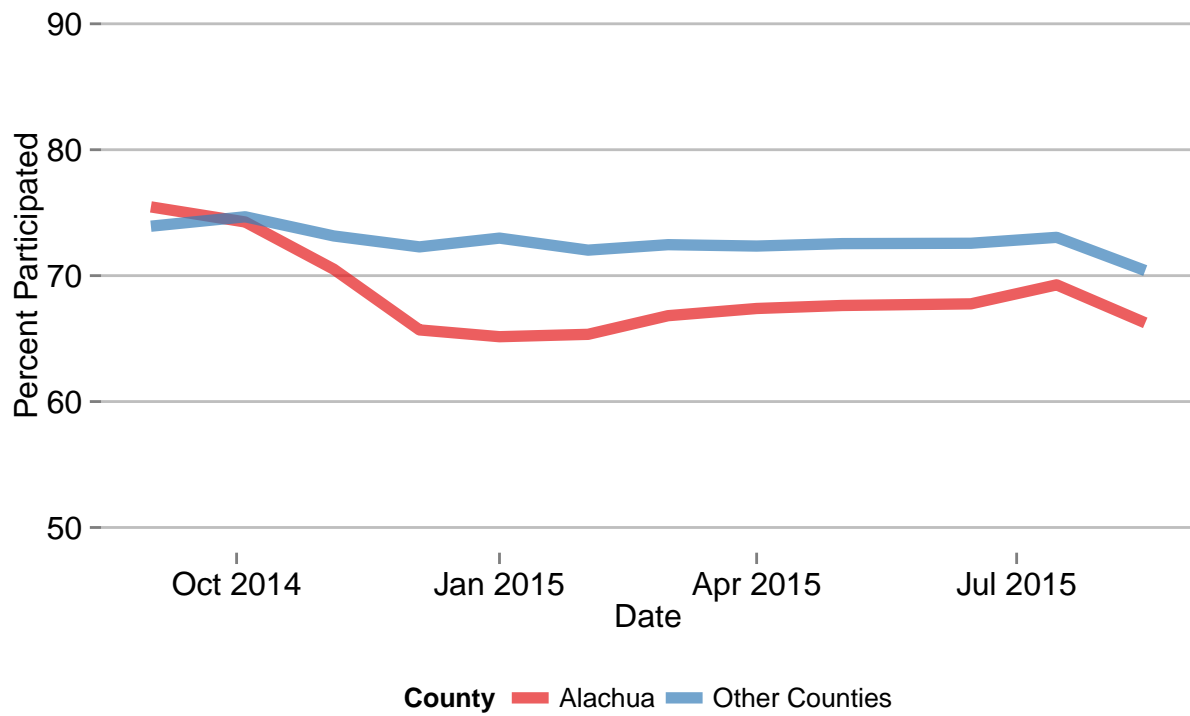

Figure 1: WIC Participation by agency

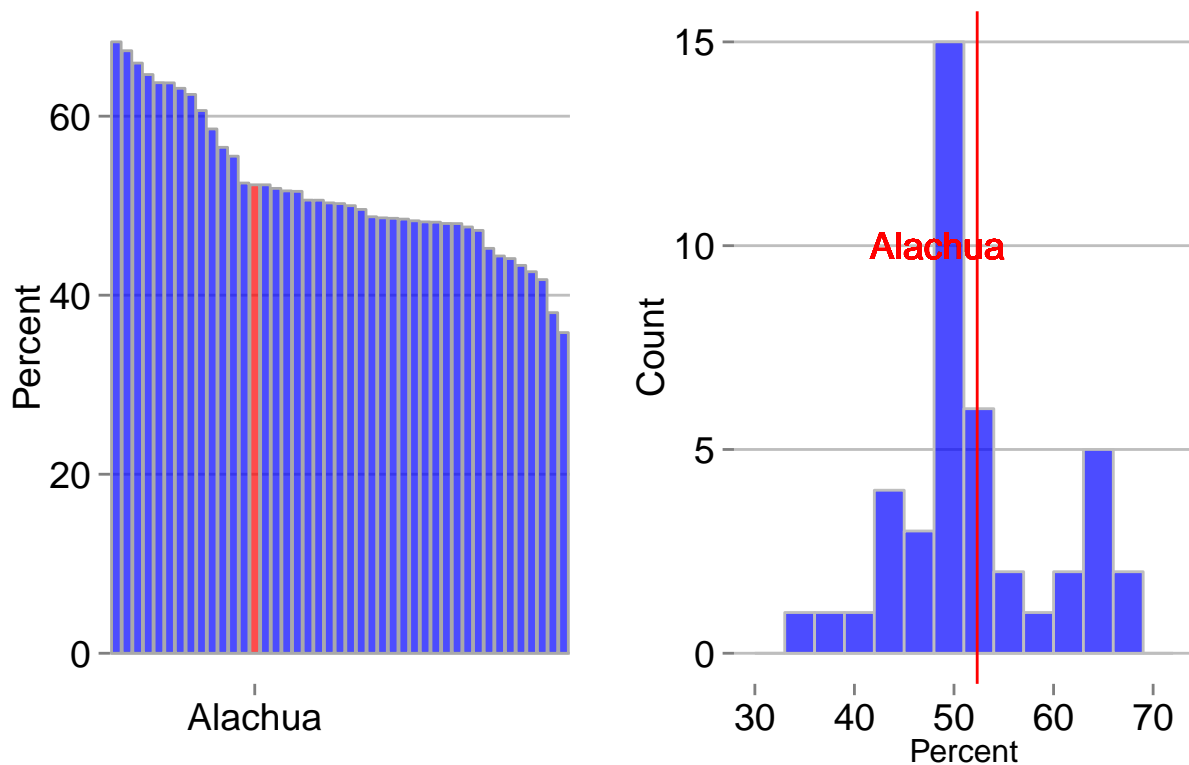

Figure 2: Left: Percent of prenatal women enrolling in WIC in the first trimester. Right: Distribution of percent of prenatal women enrolling in WIC in the first trimester. Both as of June 2015.

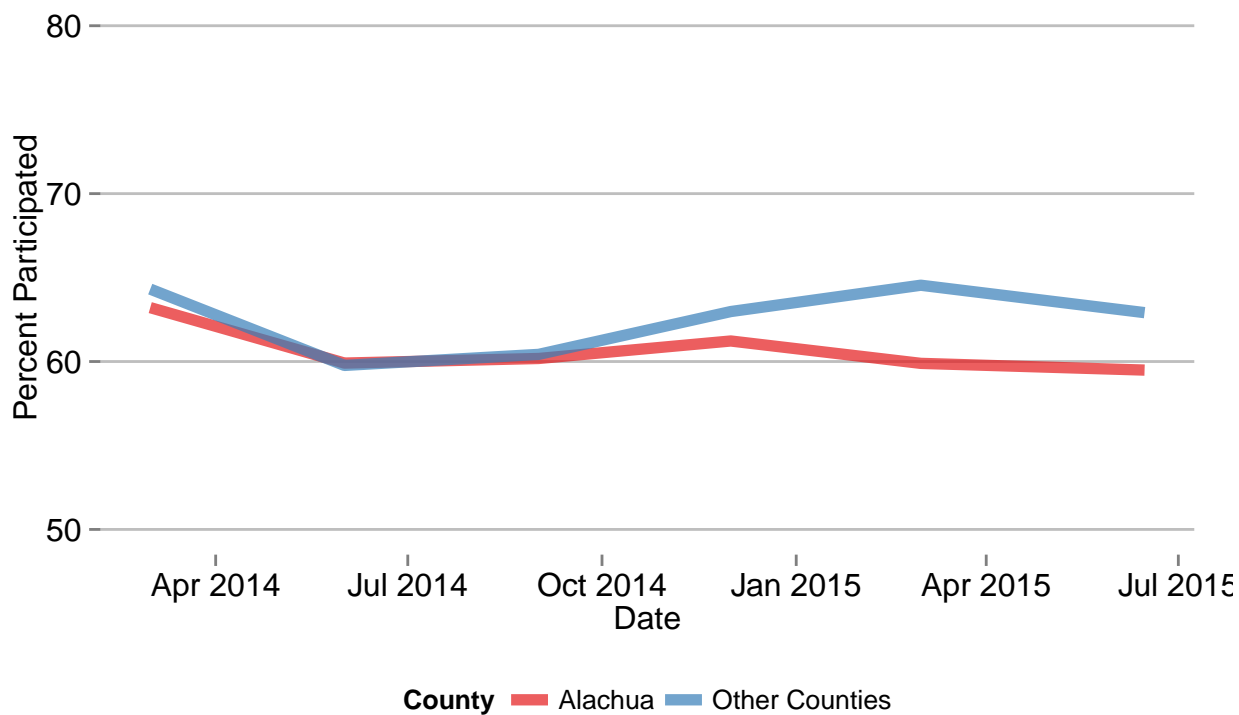

Figure 3: Percent of all WIC prenatal enrollees certified for WIC during the first trimester

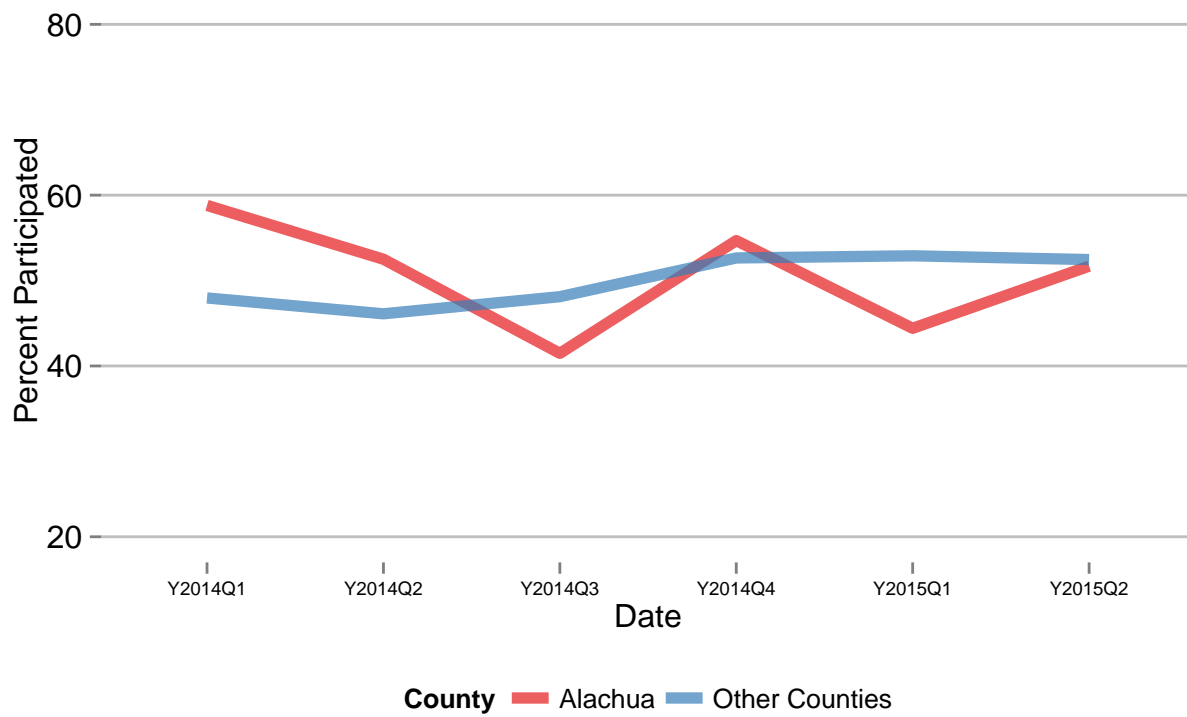

Figure 4: Percent of prenatal women enrolling in WIC in the first trimester and certified during reporting by county

Breastfeeding

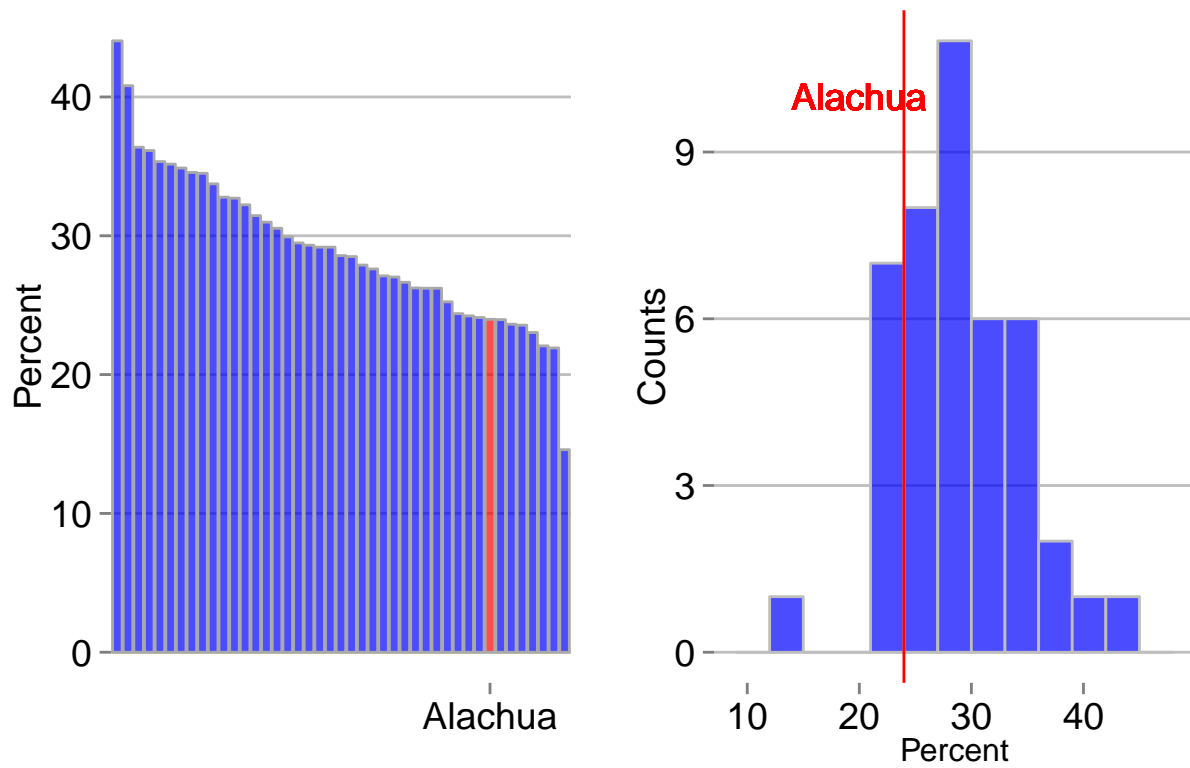

Figure 5: Left: Percent of all infants up to 12 months of age currently being breastfed by agency. Right: Distribution of Percent of all infants up to 12 months of age currently being breastfed by agency. Both as of June 2015

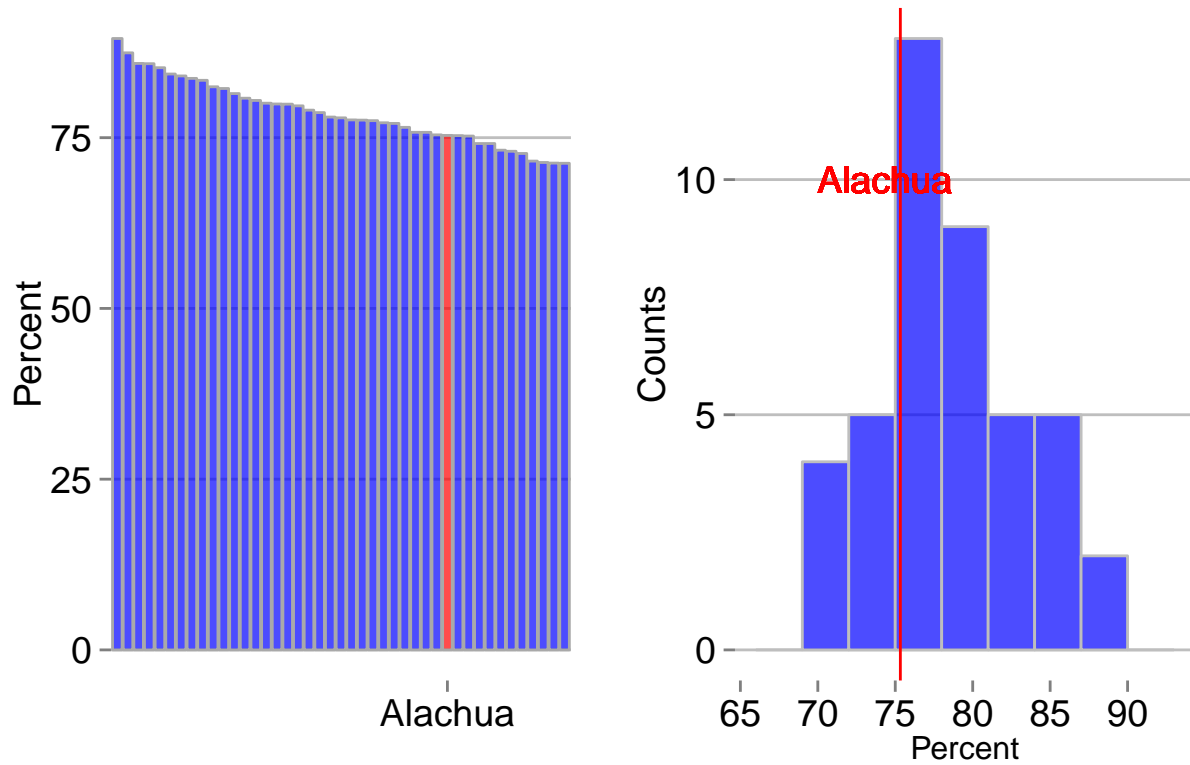

Figure 6: Left: Percent of infants and children under 24 months ever breastfed by WIC moms by agency. Right: Distribution of infants and children under 24 months ever breastfed by WIC moms by agency. Both as of June 2015.

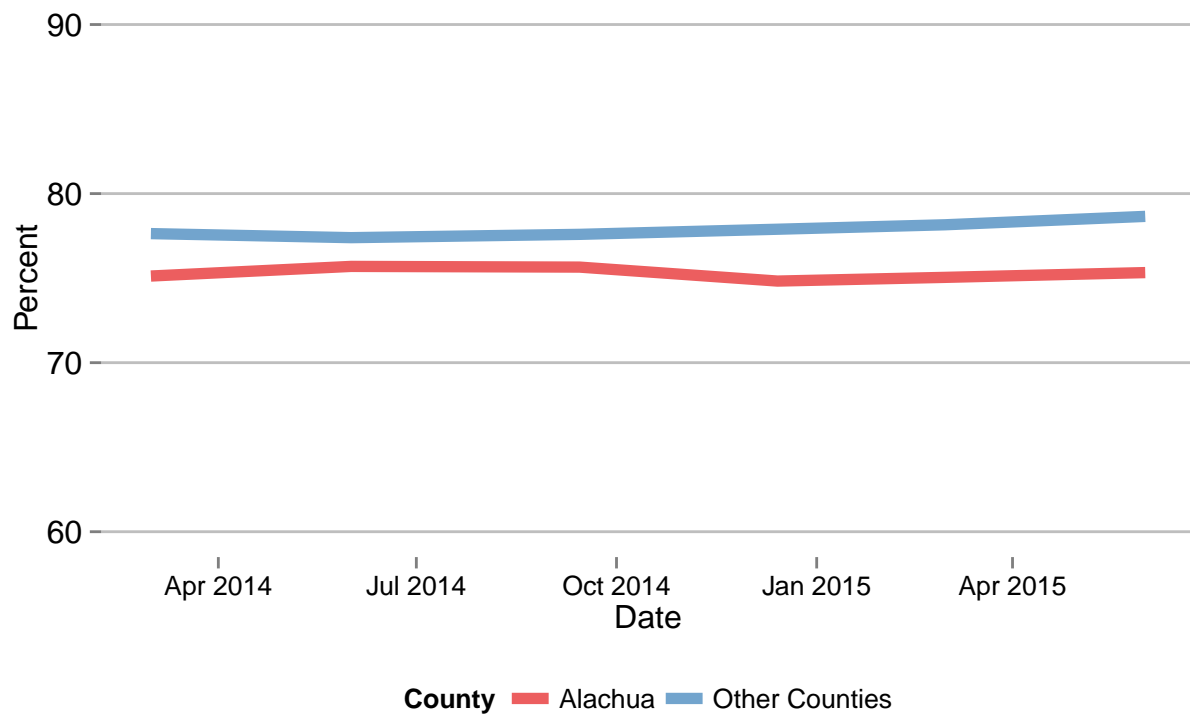

Figure 7: Percent of infants and children under 24 months ever breastfed by WIC moms by agency (2014 - 2015).

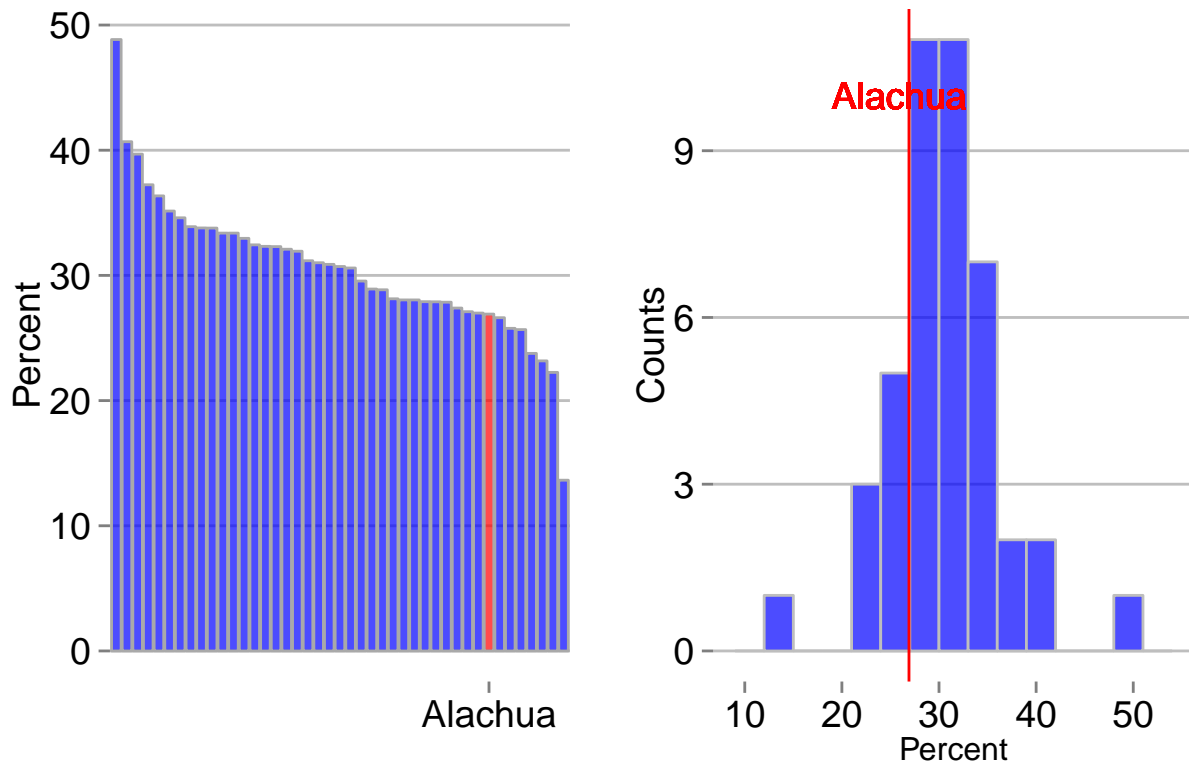

Figure 8: Left: Percent of infants that were ever breastfed for at least 26 weeks and at least 6 months of age. Right: Distribution of Percent of infants that were ever breastfed for at least 26 weeks and at least 6 months of age. Both as of June 2015.

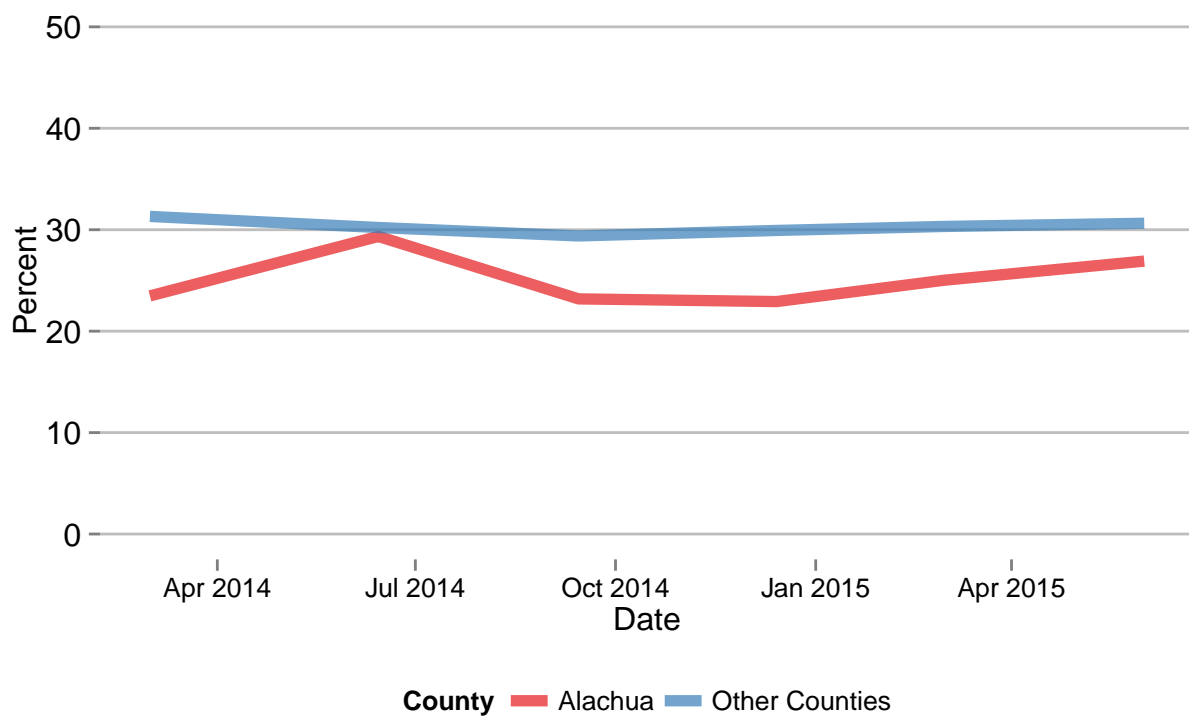

Figure 9: Percent of infants at least 26 weeks old who have breastfed for at least 26 weeks by agency (2014-2015)

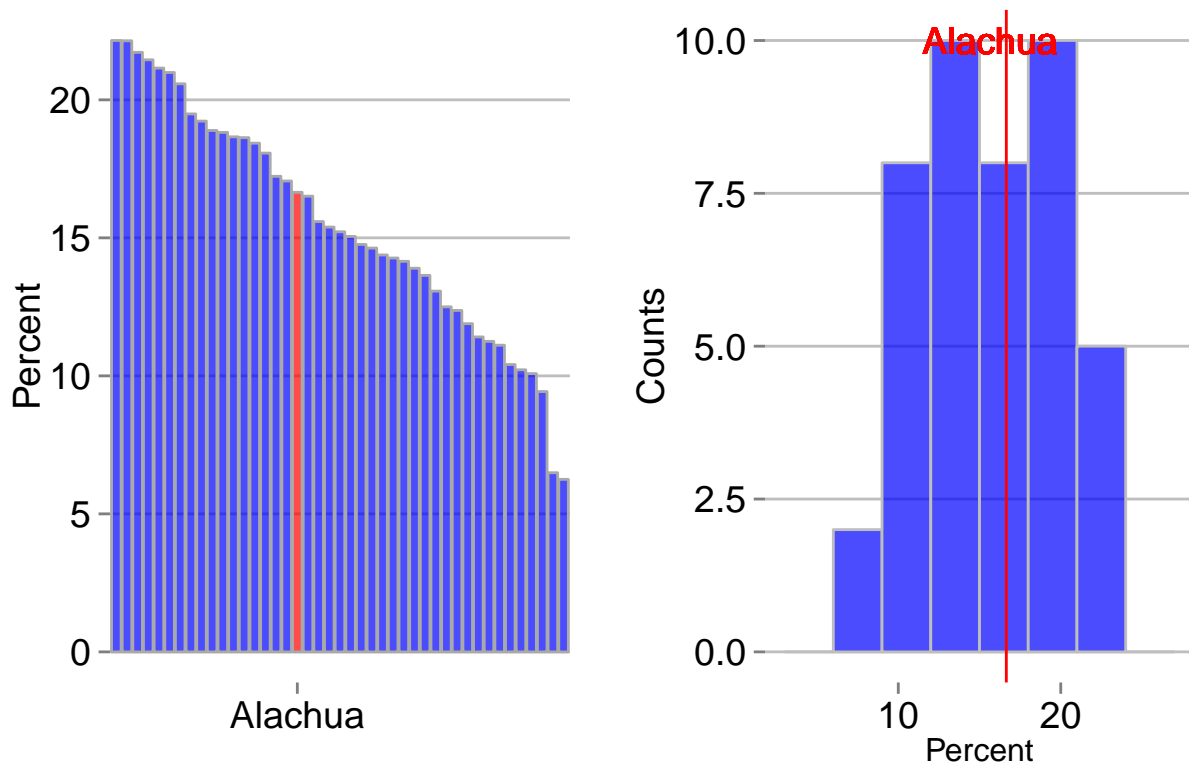

Figure 10: Left: Percent of infants at least 6 months of age who have fully breastfed for at least 26 weeks. Right: Distribution of percent of infants at least 6 months of age who have fully breastfed for at least 26 weeks. Both as of June 2015

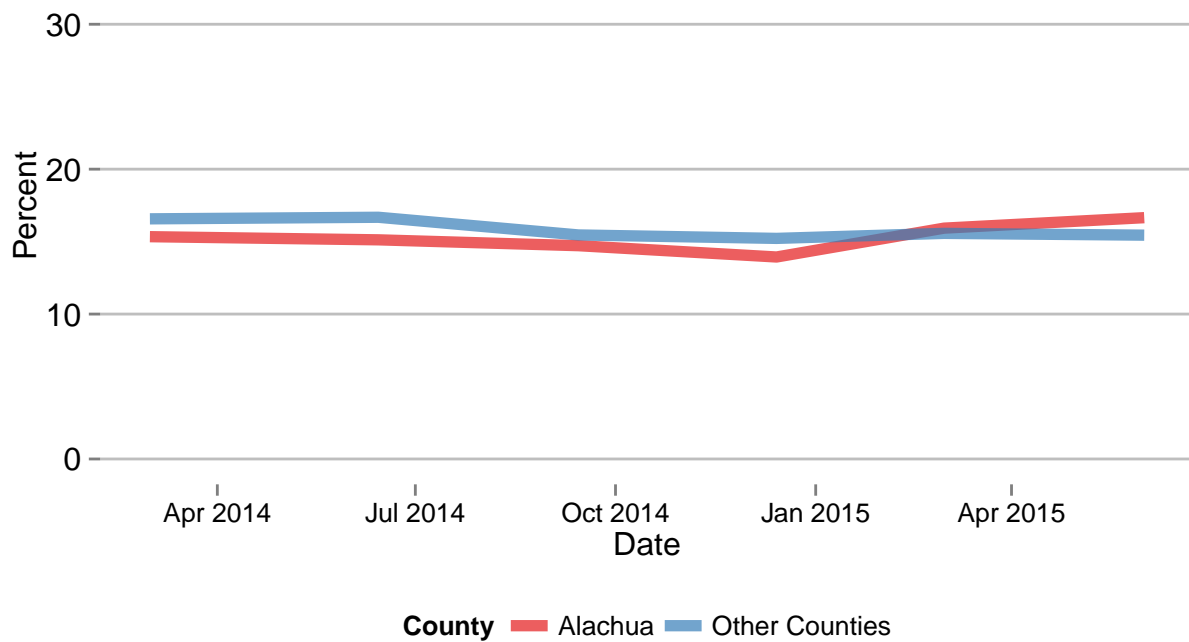

Figure 11: Percent of infants at least 6 months of age who have fully breastfed for at least 26 weeks (2014-2015)

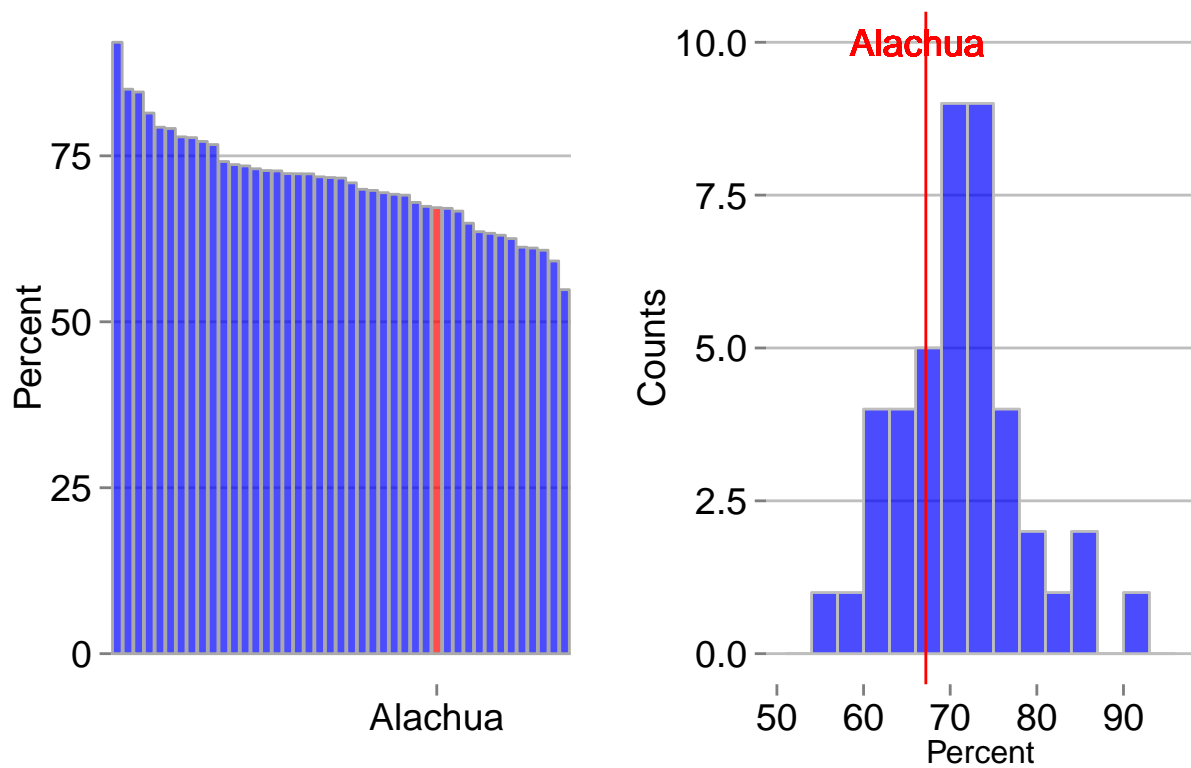

Figure 12: Right: Percent of Non-Hispanic Black infants and children less than 24 months old that were ever breastfed by WIC moms. Left: Distribution of percent of Non-Hispanic Black infants and children less than 24 months old that were ever breastfed by WIC moms. Both as of June 2015.

Healthy Weight and Obesity

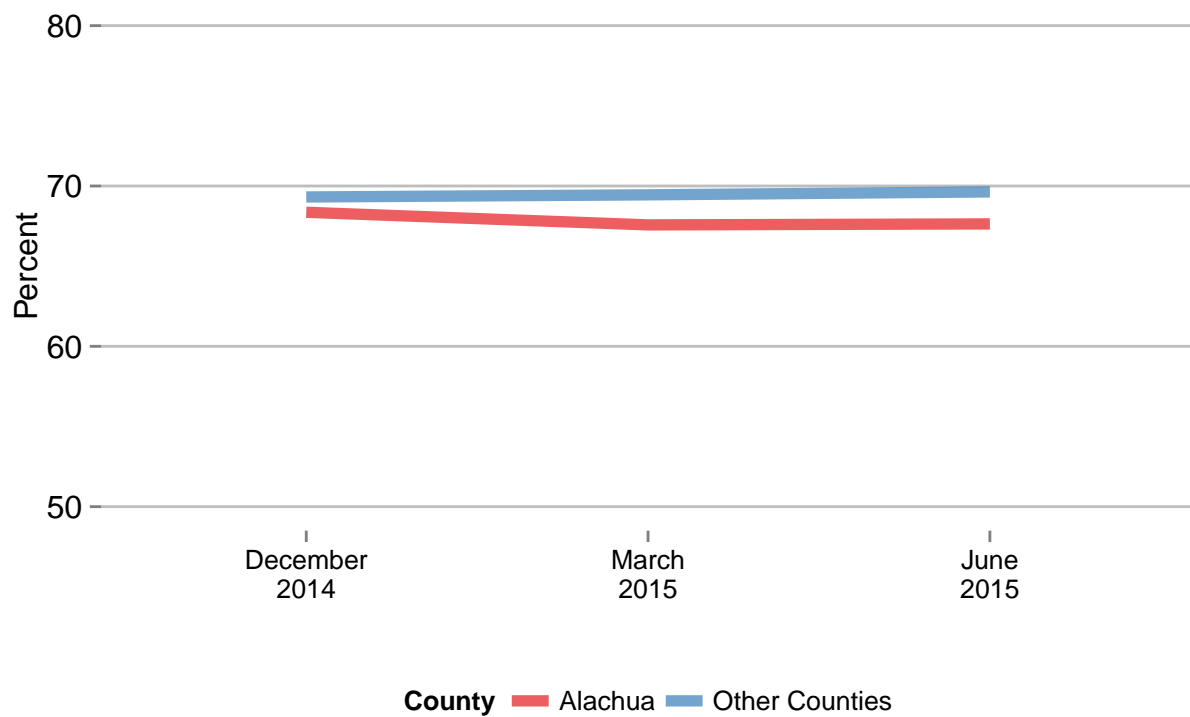

Figure 13: Percent of WIC children between ages 2-5 having a healthy weight (2014-2015)

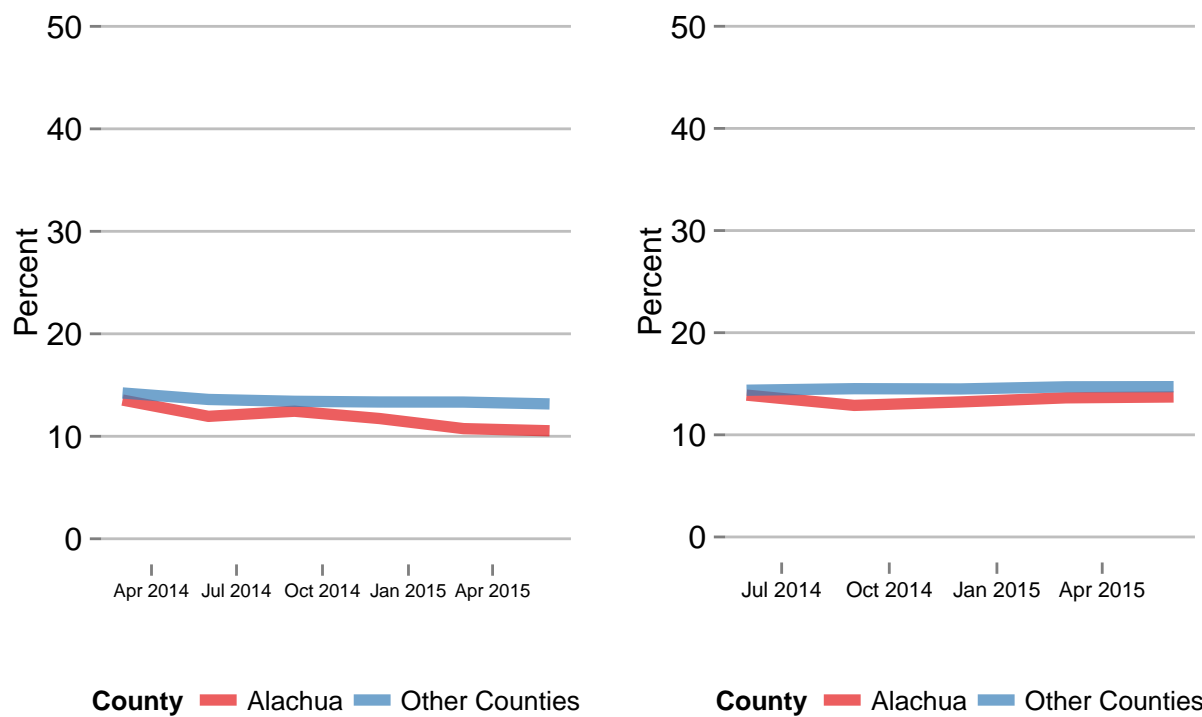

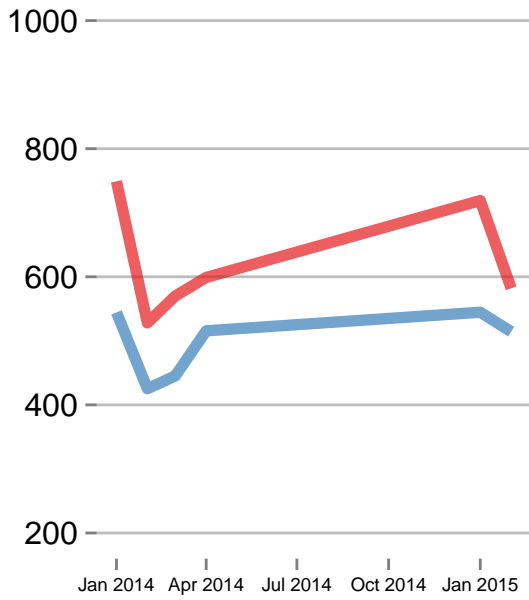

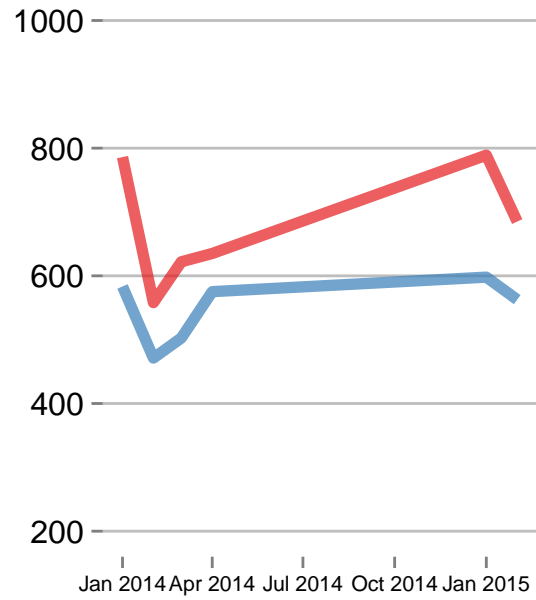

Figure 14: Right: Percent of WIC children 2 years or younger that are obese by county. Left: Percent of WIC children 2 years or younger that are overweight by county.

Nurtrition education contacts

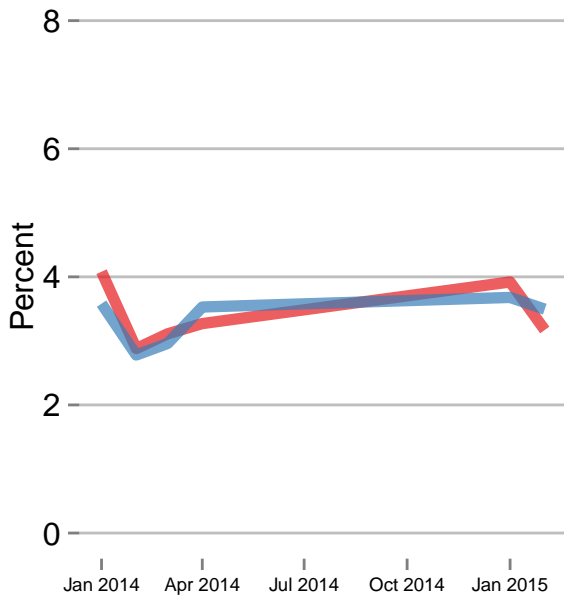

County — Alachua — Other Counties

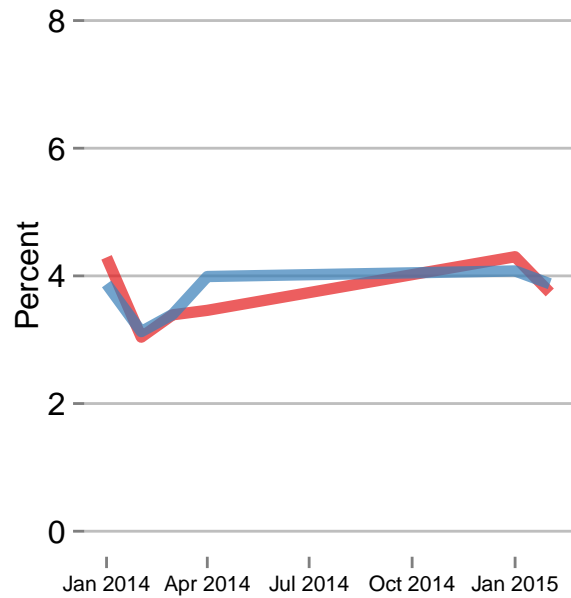

County — Alachua — Other Counties

Figure 15: Right: Average number of 2 or more high risk nutrition education contacts. Left: Average number of 2 or more Issuances.

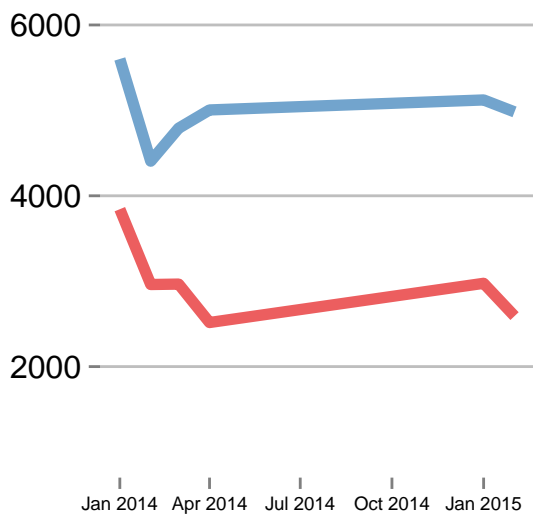

County — Alachua — Other Counties

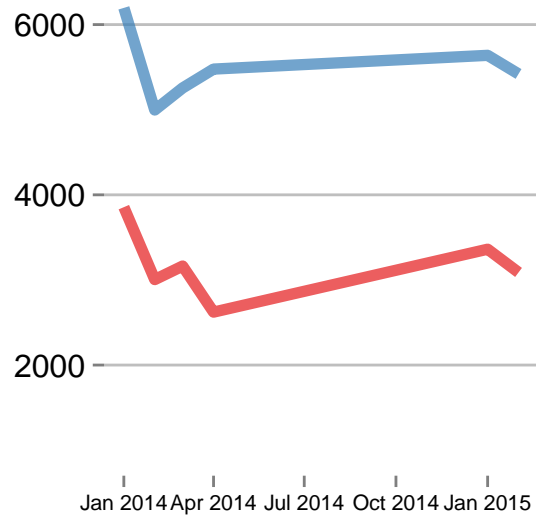

County — Alachua — Other Counties

Figure 16: Right: Percent of WIC eligible 2 or more high risk nutrition education contacts. Left: Percent of WIC eligible 2 or more Issuances.

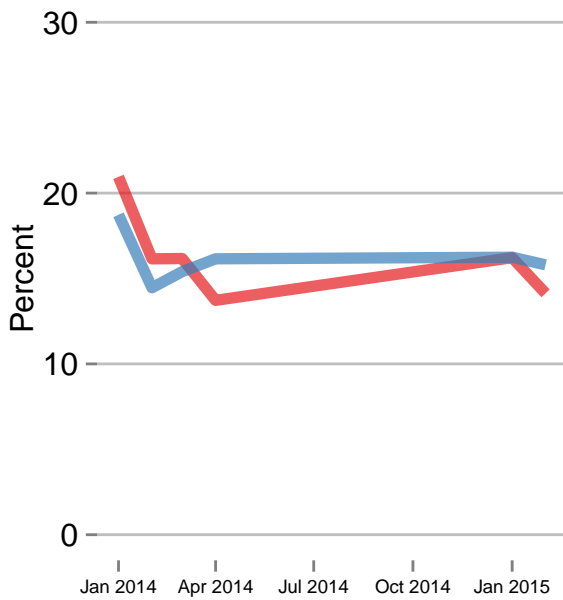

County — Alachua — Other Counties

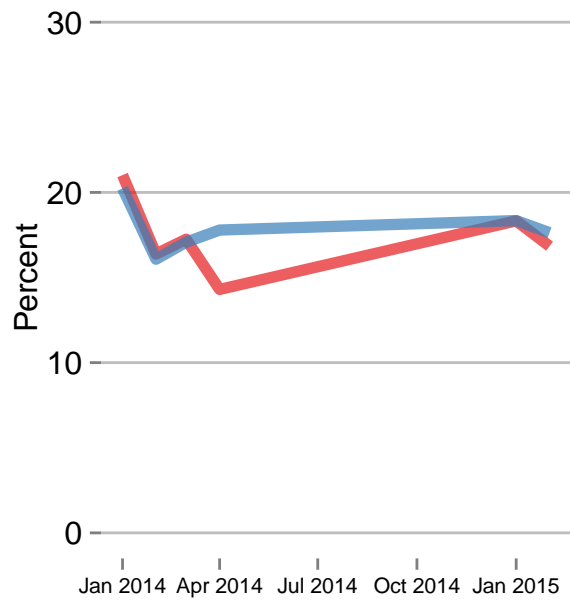

County — Alachua — Other Counties

Figure 17: Right: Average number of 2 or more low risk nutrition education contacts. Left: Average number of 2 or more Issuances.

County — Alachua — Other Counties

County — Alachua — Other Counties

Figure 18: Right: Percent of WIC eligible 2 or more high risk nutrition education contacts. Left: Percent of WIC eligible 2 or more Issuances.